Could walnuts be the key to establishing nut production in Denmark? 🌱

That's the question we tried to answer during our visit to Grenoble in France. Walnut production has been widespread in Grenoble for more than a century and has been an integral part of both the economy and culture of the district. This makes Grenoble the obvious place to go to learn about walnut production, and we had ample chances to learn from the best.

Thank you to Ghislain BOUVET from Agricultural Chamber Isère, Delphine Sneedse from Station d'Expérimentation Nucicole Rhône Alpes and Sander van Holsteijn for guiding us and introducing us to the rich tradition and to Olivier Gamet, Christian Nagereaffe, Benoit Villard and Niconoix for showing us your beautiful farms.
